

TRAINEE PROGRAM COGNIZANT

Junior Mobility Native (iOS/Android) Developer

Position overview

We are looking for Graduates to join our Trainee Program.

As a Junior iOS/Android developer you will become part of our Cognizant Digital Business – Interactive team, the team within Cognizant that focuses on the digital transformation of our clients. You will be assigned to a client engagement where you will work alongside experienced Lead Engineers and Senior developers developing and delivering iOS/Android applications (Objective-C, Swift, Android SDK, Java), working closely with design agencies and business, gaining experience from practice, being creative and innovative in the process

Your role as Junior iOS/Android Developer

We are looking for a graduate who is interested in learning iOS/Android Development. You will be directly working with our clients in developing iOS/Android applications. You will be part of a dynamic team delivering state of the art solutions to our clients.

Training, Support and Coaching

Prior to starting your client engagement, you will attend a 3 week New Hire Training Program for graduates in Spain to ensure you have a solid understanding of Cognizant's culture and processes. The first 18 months you have the opportunity for further training and support by our own Academy to help you achieve your long-term career goals. In addition to your day to day project manager, we'll assign a mentor to ensure you get all the help and support you need to start your career best footing.

Requirements

- Minimum Bachelor's degree, preferably in Business & IT, Computer Science, Computer or Industrial Engineering or other related technical majors
- Demonstrated ability in iOS/Android Development (Xcode, Objective-C, Swift, Android Studio, Android SDK, Java)
- Strong problem solving
- Ability to work collaboratively with global project teams
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills with fluency in German and English
- Nil or maximum 1 year work experience
- Swiss or EU citizenship resp. valid work permit for Switzerland

We offer

- The chance to be part of a young and fast growing organization
- An open, international and multicultural environment
- Learning about business process and requirements analyses
- Customer contact and interaction management
- Access to further training through our own Cognizant Academy to ensure professional development
- The opportunity to work for large multinational clients
- Personal development in hard and soft skills

We have 3 graduate intakes a year (roughly in January, May and in September) so you can apply any time during the year and we don't have an end date for applying.
