

We are looking at the next possible date for a

➤ Frontend Developer (100%)

Travis is an innovative early stage tech start-up connecting event organizers and event visitors through a revolutionary travel solution. We offer event organizers an online travel booking software that can be integrated as an iFrame in their website in just minutes and that makes it easier for their attendees to book their trip to their event.

Your Tasks

- > Organizing and structuring the development of the Frontend of the product
- > Close work with our team of designers and back end developers
- > Taking an active part in the future development of the product
- > Close contact to our Backend Travel Providers

You become part of an international, dynamic, young and motivated team. This is a unique opportunity to experience and support the growth of a start-up with your own ideas. You will work in a great Co-Working office with other start-ups and participate in various social events.

Travis works with international brands like Formula 1 or the Pioneers Festival and is backed by multiple Business Angel in two big investment rounds. Our Software is combining multiple API's and travel content provider in one single platform. Discover the exciting world of a start-up!

Your Profile

- > You finished an apprenticeship or study in the IT sector
- > You have at least 2 years experience in development with JavaScript (angular, Version 1.5), HTML 5, CSS (custom style on top of the bootstrap version 3.2)
- > You have a good knowledge in working with APIs
- > You should be able to work in a team environment, have a high sense of quality and good self management
- > You are excited to work for a fast growing start-up

Are you interested? That's awesome.

Sent us a quick introduction about you and your motivation as well as your CV to:

a.porsche@travis-app.com